You could say that Southernhay House was made for business. Since it opened, as a private gentleman's residence, in 1805, SH has been right in the centre of the Exeter business scene. Literally and figuratively; it's first owner was a Captain in the East India Company and, as the names of our bedrooms suggest, the house was founded upon trade.

Three centuries later, we're still the most central business go-to in the city. We've always proclaimed ourselves as "made in Exeter" and we're delighted to be good friends with many people, businesses and organisations who feel the same way as we do about working and living here.

We already provide the back-up we think you need for quiet brainstorming, a high-level negotiation, board meeting or the celebration of a successful deal. To complement the facilities we already offer, in 2018 we're introducing our SH Houseguest scheme, an opportunity for like-minded businesses to get the classic SH service, tailored where possible to your specific requirements.
